1. Overview

About The Academy of Lactation Policy and Practice

The Academy of Lactation Policy and Practice (“ALPP”) is a division of the Healthy Children Project, Inc., a non-profit organization, and provides a national certification program in Breastfeeding and Human Lactation for nurses, physicians, dietitians, WIC personnel, peer counselors, independent lactation counselors and others. Founded in 1999, ALPP is dedicated to improving the foundation of breastfeeding comprehension and understanding throughout the United States by providing certification of added qualification in breastfeeding.

In 2005, ALPP began administering the CLC® (Certified Lactation Counselor®) Examination and Certification Program separately from the Healthy Children Project, Inc. and continues as a division of the Healthy Children Project.

ALPP independently develops and administers the CLC Examination to assess knowledge and skills that underlie competent practice in lactation counseling. ALPP’s Disciplinary Review Panel is responsible for setting policy, and for developing the CLC Program Requirements. The development, administration and scoring of the CLC Examination promotes competency in lactation management, skills, and knowledge and thereby fulfills the mission of ALPP.

The Purpose of the Certified Lactation Counselor® Certification

The purpose of the CLC Examination is to identify individuals who are competent in lactation management skills and knowledge. By extension, the CLC Examination seeks to promote, protect and support breastfeeding for individuals and society at large.

Candidates who successfully complete the CLC Examination and who agree to comply with the CLC Program Requirements are eligible for CLC Certification and are licensed to use the certification marks “Certified Lactation Counselor” and “CLC” for a period of three years.

Obtaining the CLC Certification is a way of demonstrating knowledge and skills in lactation management. Individuals who hold the CLC Certification come from a variety of different educational and employment backgrounds, including mothers, peer counselors, educators, nurses, childbirth educators, doulas, nutritionists, dietitians, midwives, physicians, social workers, public health workers, public administrators, and many others. Individuals work as lactation counselors in settings including obstetric and pediatric practice settings, hospitals, public health programs, and independent practice.
Statement of Non-Discrimination

ALPP does not discriminate against any individual on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, age, disability or any other characteristic protected by law.

Statement of Impartiality

ALPP is committed to impartiality, and understands the importance of impartiality in carrying out all of its certification activities.

Pathways to Sit for the Certified Lactation Counselor Examination

There are three pathways to qualify to sit for the ALPP Certified Lactation Counselor Exam:

- The Comprehensive Course Pathway
- The Aggregate Pathway
- The Alternate Pathway

Comprehensive Course Pathway

This pathway is designed for a person looking to take a single, comprehensive, course that covers all the skills and competencies necessary for breastfeeding counseling. Individuals who complete this pathway must successfully complete a lactation course that is taught by one of our approved training partners. These training courses meet the following requirements:

- A minimum three college credit course
- Demonstrate the competencies and skills required to provide safe, evidence-based counseling for pregnant, lactating, and breastfeeding women, within the context of the course

Course completion documents must include verification of competencies. For this pathway, candidates do not need to submit an application or any other forms to sit for the CLC exam; the application will be submitted directly from the training partner. You can find a list of training partners that fulfill the requirements for the comprehensive course pathway on ALPP’s website or you can request the list by contacting ALPP directly.

4. Counseling skills attestation
5. Applicant resume
6. Resume(s) of Counseling Skills Attestation supervisor(s)

Education sponsored by manufacturers or distributors of infant formula, baby food, bottles, nipples, pacifiers, including pump companies that violate the scope of the WHO International Code of Marketing of Breastmilk Substitutes, or continuing education that does not meet ALPP eligibility criteria will not be accepted.

All required documentation must be submitted with the application in order for it to be considered.

Within 10 business days of the receipt of your application, or at the point four weeks before the examination, ALPP will send you an authorization to test letter confirming your eligibility status (or pending status if you are registered for an authorized course in conjunction with the examination location) and providing a location for examination. Keep this authorization to test letter. You will need to present it at the testing center. The authorization to test is only valid for the location and date in the letter.

Fees

The current application fee is $20. The current examination fee is $100.

Exam Sites

Cancellation / Fee Refund

The eligibility application review fee is non-refundable. The examination fee is refundable (minus $50 processing fee) if the candidate notifies ALPP of his or her test site cancellation and refund request in writing 10 business days prior to the examination date. A candidate who does not request a refund by this deadline and does not sit for the exam forfeits all fees.

Appealing an Application or Examination Decision

If an application for the CLC Examination is not accepted by ALPP, the candidate may appeal this action to the Disciplinary Review Panel. All appeals shall be in writing, shall identify the reasons that the application should accepted, and shall include any supporting documentation that the candidate wishes to have considered. The request must be received at least 30 days before the date of the requested CLC Examination. Candidates shall have the burden of demonstrating that the appeal should be granted. All such appeals will be reviewed by the Disciplinary Review Panel. The Disciplinary Review Panel will notify the candidate of its decision in writing. The decision of the Disciplinary Review Panel shall be final.
If a candidate wishes to appeal a decision about the CLC Examination process, the candidate may submit written verification and supporting documentation of the situation to ALPP within 20 days of the original examination date.

If such a request is not made within 20 days, the candidate will forfeit the full examination fee. To apply for a future date, the candidate must complete a new application, pay all applicable fees, and meet all eligibility requirements in effect at the time of reapplication.
4. CLC Examination Procedures

Examination Formats

The ALPP CLC Examination has two sections: a didactic examination and a practical examination.

Authoritative Reference List

The Authoritative References List provides a concise yet detailed guide to informative lactation practice books. It serves as a valuable tool for all lactation professionals, especially those preparing for the certification.

This list is intended for us as a study aid only. The Academy of Lactation Policy and Practice does not intend the list to imply endorsement of these specific references, nor are the test questions necessarily taken from these sources.

Studying for the Didactic Examination

There are many things you can do to prepare yourself for the test. Read and review the materials associated with the course. Participate fully in homework. Ask questions to the faculty.

Example 1: Skin-to-skin care is beneficial for the premature infant because:

Options or Distracters:

- It delays hospital interventions that are unnecessary
- It stimulates maturation and development in the infant
- It decreases the infant’s need for foods, especially iron
- It decreases the amount of infant gagging and coughing

Correct Answer: b

According to the matrix, this question tests at the Chronological Level 3 (Prematurity), within the General Principle I (Human Anatomy, Physiology and Development) and is in the Topic Area I (Special Circumstances).

Example 2: Which of the following describes a reason that Skin-to-skin care should be included in hospital policies for the care of premature infants?

Options or Distracters:

- It delays hospital interventions that are unnecessary
- It stimulates maturation and development in the infant
- It decreases the infant’s need for foods, especially iron
- It decreases the amount of infant gagging and coughing

Correct Answer: b

In this case the item could fit into the matrix as F, V, 3. Management techniques, Professional Behavior and Prematurity.

Studying for the Practical Examination

The name on the photo ID must match the examinee’s name on the sign-in sheet produced by ALPP proctors.

Candidates without authorization to test, photo ID, or who arrive more than five minutes after the posted start time will NOT be permitted to enter the test center, and their examination fees will be forfeited.

2. The Practical portion of the CLC Examination consists of viewing videotaped breastfeeding sessions and answering a True/False LAT Examination. You will be given specific directions at the beginning of the CLC Examination, including which sheets to complete and sign prior to the practical exam beginning. There are two videos. A successful candidate must pass at least one of the video assessments.

3. The Didactic portion of the CLC Examination consists of multiple choice questions. You will be given specific directions at the beginning of the CLC Examination. To successfully complete the Didactic portion of the CLC Examination, a candidate must receive a passing score of 75%.

4. Mark your answers solely on the CLC Examination Bubble Sheet or on the True/False LAT Examination. You may write on the test question sheets and on the LAT Assessment Tool, but these notes will not be considered upon scoring the exam.

Testing center proctors are authorized to take immediate, appropriate measures against candidates who are caught violating testing rules. The candidate is entitled to appeal the dismissal determination.

Sick Policy
In keeping with advice from health authorities including the Centers for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC), it is the policy of ALPP, that exam candidates who have symptoms of illness, including those who are actively ill, as well as those who feel that they are “coming down with something” should stay at home (or in their temporary place of residence such as a friend or family member’s home, hotel, etc.), and should not attend the ALPP examination, remaining at home until they are no longer contagious.

If any candidate is unable to arrive at a designated exam site because of an illness, the candidate must notify ALPP at least 24 hours prior to the Friday exam. Candidates who do so will be allowed to take the next regularly scheduled examination without being charged a re-examination fee. Candidates who notify ALPP less than 24 hours prior to their scheduled examination day will not be eligible for a refund or fee transfer to a different exam location.

Inclement Weather
If any candidate is unable to arrive at a designated exam site because of inclement weather, terrorist acts, a natural disaster, or other unforeseen emergencies beyond control of the candidate as determined by ALPP, the candidate will be allowed to take the next regularly scheduled examination without being charged a re-examination fee.

If for any reason the exam is unable to be administered, then the examination will be rescheduled within a reasonable period of time. Candidates may take the examination at the next administration without being charged a re-examination fee. Candidates will be responsible for their own associated expenses for future testing.

Examination Irregularities
Any problems, suspected instances of cheating, alleged inappropriate examination administration, environmental testing conditions severe enough to cause disruption of the process, or other irregularities related to test administration should be addressed to the onsite proctor. All such matters will be reported, investigated, and subject to further action based upon policies and procedures adopted by ALPP.
Handling of Tests

ALPP will take all available precautions to ensure the appropriate and secure handling of completed tests. In the rare and extreme case in which the tests become lost or unreadable, candidates will be required to undergo retesting, without being charged a re-examination fee. Candidates will be responsible for their own travel-associated expenses for future testing.
8. After the Examination

Notification of Results
Candidates are notified via email of the examination results within six to eight weeks of the test administration. Results will not be given over the phone.

Results – Passing
Candidates who successfully complete the examination and whose credentials and application entitle them to certification will be notified by email and granted a Certified Lactation Counselor certification.

The certification remains the property of the Academy of Lactation Policy and Practice, which may withdraw, cancel, revoke or otherwise annul the certification for cause.

Results – Failing
Candidates who did not successfully pass the examination will be notified by email. A failing report shall list the candidate's score. Suggested topic areas for further study may be identified based on the content areas of incorrect responses.

Information on reapplying for the CLC Examination shall be included.

Retesting: Candidate Fails
If a candidate receives a failing score, they may retake the CLC Examination up to three times in one year of their original test date. Candidates who fail to pass the CLC Examination after three attempts must complete a course of continuing education or training administered by a training partner before another CLC Examination may be scheduled.

Retesting: Candidate Passes
In the event that a candidate passes any ALPP certification examination, the candidate may choose to sit for the examination again. By doing so the candidate is acknowledging that, upon exam registration, their previous passing score and certification status is void.

Candidates who have not recertified prior to their three-year expiration period and whose certification has lapsed must retake and pass the examination in order to be certified again.

An individual who has been granted the certification may utilize the title, mark and/or logo on stationary, websites, business cards, and other promotional materials as:

- First name Last name, Certified Lactation Counselor
- First name, Last name, CLC

Should the certification expire, be suspended or withdrawn for any reason, the individual must immediately cease the use of the title, mark, and/or logo on stationary, websites, business cards, and any and all promotional materials.

ALPP reserves the right to publish the names of current CLCs on its website.

The title, mark, and/or logo may only be used in a manner that represents the Certified Lactation Counselor. ALPP expects that representatives will follow established standards of professional practice and ethics in business, advertising, public relations, and marketing when using the title, marks and/or logo. Failure to do so will result in disciplinary action.

Please contact ALPP to obtain a PDF version of the logo.

Candidates, who successfully complete the CLC Examination, and who agree to comply with CLC Program Requirements (CLC Certificants) shall be notified by ALPP of their CLC Certification. Upon notification, CLC Certificants are licensed to use the title, mark and logo. CLC Certificants receive a certificate that is valid for a period of three years, rounded to either June 30 or December 31, depending on the date of examination.

Execution of an application for the CLC Examination constitutes an agreement by a candidate to comply with CLC Program Requirements. The CLC Program Requirements consist of the procedures, Code of Ethics, and requirements set forth in this ALPP Candidate Handbook for Certified Lactation Counselors (CLC) Certification and any standard procedure, or requirement, if any, that may be published from time to time by ALPP. Compliance with CLC Program Requirements is a condition of CLC Certification.

The CLC Certification is granted to an individual. Therefore, he or she, not his or her employer or business, may use the certification marks as long as the individual is licensed to do so. In marketing materials and other documentation, employers of CLC Certificants are allowed to identify CLC Certificants on staff. However, in no event shall employers suggest that they, rather than the employees, possess CLC Certification.

The certification marks “Certified Lactation Counselor” and “CLC” are owned by ALPP and are licensed to individuals who successfully complete CLC Examination, and who agree to comply with CLC Program Requirements.

ALPP is pleased to announce that on April 5, 2011, the United States Patent and Trademark Office issued a registration certificate for the certification mark Certified Lactation Counselor®. The Certified Lactation Counselor® marks and logo may only be used in a manner that represents the Certified Lactation Counselor. ALPP expects that representatives will follow established standards of professional practice and ethics in business, advertising, public relations and marketing when using the certification marks and logo. Failure to do so will result in disciplinary action.

Request for Duplicate Certificate

Any certificant may request additional copies of his or her certification document. Requests must be made in writing to ALPP and may be made at any time. The fee of $15 must be included with the request. The request for a duplicate certificate appears later in this handbook and is publicly available on the website.
10. Continued Education/Recertification

In recognition of the fact that scientific and social knowledge about breastfeeding and human lactation is continually evolving, CLC Certificants are required to obtain a minimum of 18 hours of continuing education in the area of breastfeeding and human lactation every three years. Evidence-based breastfeeding practice requires constant reading, evaluation, and dialogue with peers and mentors. It is in the best interests of all health care providers to seek every opportunity for continuing education and professional growth. CLC Certificants who do not provide adequate proof of 18 or hours of appropriate continuing education will not receive a renewed CLC Certification.

CLC Certificants are licensed to use the CLC Certification Marks for a period of three years, rounded to either June 30 or December 31, depending on the date of CLC Examination. Every three years CLC Certificants must recertify by submitting proof of 18 contact hours of evidence-based continuing education and paying a recertification fee. CLC Certificants will be required to: (1) review and attest that they have adhered to the CLC Program Requirements; and (2) agree to comply with the CLC Program Requirements for the duration of their recertification when they submit their recertification. Non-payment of recertification fees or non-submission of proof of continuing education will result in revocation of CLC Certification by ALPP. CLC Certificants who miss the recertification date may recertify by retaking a course and the CLC Examination.

One-hundred percent of CLC Certificants will have their continuing education hours audited. CLC Certifications must verify that they have completed the required continuing educational hours by submission of certificates of completion in order to maintain their certification.
11. CLC Examination Administration and Scoring

The passing score for the CLC Examination was set by a panel of judges, which included subject matter experts with a variety of credentials and degrees. The group of experts reviewed each item of the Didactic Examination using an established method for determining competence called the Angoff technique. The score was set at 75% for the CLC Examination.

After each CLC Examination is administered, the bubble sheets will be scored. After the CLC Examination is scored, each candidate will be sent a report indicating whether he or she obtained a passing or failing score.

The correct answers on the practical examination were determined by a panel of experts. Only the parameters which the experts agreed unanimously are scored. The candidate must score 100% on one of the video assessments to pass the practical examination.

Candidates who receive a passing score on both the didactic and practical elements of the CLC Examination and who agree to comply with the CLC Program Requirements are eligible for CLC Certification.

A failing report shall list the candidate’s score. Suggested topic areas for further study may be identified based on the content areas of incorrect responses. Information on reapplying for the CLC Examination shall be included.

If a candidate receives a failing score, he or she may retake the CLC Examination up to three times in one year. Candidates who fail to pass the CLC Examination after four attempts must complete a course of continuing education or training specified by the CLC Committee before another CLC Examination may be scheduled.

Candidates with reason to believe a discrepancy exists in the scoring or reporting of their test results may request a re-scoring of the bubble sheet. A candidate’s bubble sheet will be inspected and re-scored upon receipt of the re-scoring request form. Requests for re-scoring answer sheets must be received no later than 30 days following release of CLC Examination results. Requests received beyond this time period will not be processed.
12. Expectations of CLC Certificants & Scope of Practice

CLC Scope of Practice Statement

The Certified Lactation Counselor® (CLC®) certification identifies a professional in lactation counseling who has demonstrated the necessary skills, knowledge, and abilities to provide breastfeeding counseling and management support to families who are thinking about breastfeeding or who have questions or problems during the course of breastfeeding/lactation.

CLCs are individuals who have successfully completed a minimum of 52 hours of training based upon the footprint of the World Health Organization/UNICEF Breastfeeding Counseling Training Course and a Job Task Analysis; have passed a criterion-referenced examination administered by the Academy of Lactation Policy and Practice (ALPP); and have demonstrated the clinical competencies and skills required to provide safe, evidence-based counseling for pregnant, lactating, and breastfeeding families, including the:

- Ability to recognize one’s own and others’ attitudes, values, and expectations about infant feeding and healthy lifestyles.
- Ability to apply the concept of an individualized approach to counseling and management of breastfeeding, from preconception through weaning.
- Ability to use appropriate, effective, and client-centered communication skills.
- Ability to identify opportunities to offer information/education within the counseling encounter to breastfeeding families, the whole family constellation, the community, health care providers, and other health care workers.
- Ability to assess physical, nutritional, and psychosocial aspects and the mental status of the breastfeeding dyad.
- Ability to utilize reliable tools to assess affective/ineffective breastfeeding and milk transfer.
- Ability to incorporate evidence based approaches to clinical practice and make appropriate referrals operating on the continuum of the health care team.
- Knowledge of programs, policies and legislation on state, national, and international levels that promote, protect and support breastfeeding.

ALPP develops and administers the CLC examination to assess the knowledge and skills that underlie competent practice in lactation counseling. The development, administration, and scoring of the CLC exam, after participants have met the skills competency requirements, promotes competency in lactation management, skills, and knowledge and thereby fulfills the mission of ALPP.

The purpose of the CLC certification is to protect the public by identifying individuals who are competent in lactation management skills and knowledge.

Many individuals who hold the CLC credential have other licenses and education, including nurses, peer counselors, doulas, dietitians, nutritionists, home visitors, physicians, midwives, occupational and speech therapy, mental health counselors, etc. Because of the diverse background and training of CLCs, this listing does not encompass activities that many CLCs may conduct under the umbrella of other licensure, training, or knowledge.

Knowledge and Competency of the CLC

Candidates must also indicate in writing which CLC Examination date may be disclosed and identify the specific person or organization to whom the scores should be revealed. When an agency has its own Release form, this may be an acceptable substitute for the ALPP form. If a candidate chooses not to give consent for information to be shared, this decision will be respected, except where issues of safety or legality apply. However, this may limit the kinds of support that are open to them.

ALPP reserves the right to publish the names of current CLCs in a public registry on its website.

Data Protection

ALPP staff shall undertake commercially reasonable efforts to observe and maintain the confidentiality of candidate information.
